SWISS FLIERS THOUGHT NEARING NEW YORK CITY

Dr. Snook Must Die In Chair Nov. 29; Refused New Trial

CO-ED SLAYER'S DEATH DAY SET BY OHIO JUDGE

Former Ohio Professor's
Career To End Day
After Thanksgiving

SNOOK SHOWS NO EMOTION AT WORD

Jury Returned Verdict In Less Than Half-Hour
of Deliberation

Columbus, O., Aug. 20.—Death in the electric chair on November 29 was the fate which was meted out today to Dr. James Howard Snook, convicted slayer of his ill-fated sweet-heart Miss Theora Hix.

The death sentence was passed by Judge Henry L. Scarlett, in criminal court here, after he had over-ruled a motion for a new trial which had been argued by attorneys for Snook.

Snook, former 49-year-old Ohio State university professor, stoical-ly heard the judgment of the court that he should "burn" at the Ohio State penitentiary the day after Thanksgiving. He showed not the least trace of emotion.

He was as calm as he was during his recent trial when he never turned an eye as the fiendish mur-der of the young and beautiful co-

Snook Enters Death Row

Ohio State Penitentiary, Columbus, O., Aug. 20.—Less than half an hour after he had been sentenced to die on November 29, Dr. James Howard Snook, convicted murderer of Miss Theora Hix, was moved into this institution and was given a cell in the death row.

His number is 60,656. He was ordered to don the prison garb as prisoners in the "cell of the doomed" are ordered to wear civilian clothes.

Four other murderers are in the "death row." Two are negroes.

Miss Hix, who was re-enacted Snook's murder and was killed by a lone rifle range on the outskirts of Columbus the night of June 13, leaving her body lying in the weeds.

State Made Contentious

The state's contention was that Snook had murdered and knifed the girl when she repulsed his advances after he had given her an alleged "love potion," which had no become effective.

The jury adopted that contention, returning a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree after deliberation for about an hour.

Dry Agent Not So Dry, Auto Wreck, Arrest, Finally Jail Sentence Follow In Rapid Order

Bellevue, O., Aug. 20.—This city was agog with discussion today when the news was divulged that George Lanier had been fined $700 on liquor charges.

There would not have been so much talk, only George is a prohibition agent, working out of a justice of the peace court here.

George, it was charged, had imbibed some of the product he spends so much time in confiscating. The agent possessed some liquor, too, it was alleged.

And George, according to an affidavit, did not drive his automobile in conformity with traffic regulations. It struck two other cars while he was trying to manipulate it.

The first little accident occurred when George's car struck the machine of H. W. Cassell, of Bellevue, at Russell's Point, near here.

Then it brushed fenders with the car being driven by Robert Sanfield of Cincinnati.

Cassell, slightly hurt from his wrecked automobile and tried to remonstrate with the agent.

George, Cassell, alleged, pulled his dry agent badge and he gun. Cassell didn't argue further, but proceeded to Bellevue, and swore out an affidavit for the agent's arrest.

The complaint charged that George was intoxicated and also that he had some liquor in his car.

So, after being duly taken into custody, George appeared in common pleas court here.

"Guilty," your honor," George mumbled to Judge Thompson, who was presiding.

The judge cleared his throat and then meted out a fine of $400 on charges of possessing liquor and $300 on charges of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor.

Judge Thompson also ruled that George must serve out the fine in the Dayton workhouse if he was unable to pay it.

So, today, the curtain rose on the drama of a prohibition agent "on the inside looking at the outside."

Toledo, O., Aug. 20.—More than 200 sleeping passengers escaped injury and possible death today when a Hocking Valley passenger train enroute from Columbus to Toledo was derailed by an automatic device before plunging through an open draw bridge into the Maumee river.

The device derailed the train just before it reached the bridge.

Marvel Crosson Dies In Wreck Of Plane

Wellton, Ariz., Aug. 20.—Marvel Crosson, San Diego aviator, was found dead today in her wrecked plane six miles due north of here.

Her body was crushed and broken. Indications were that she had met death in a forced landing.

The left wing of her plane, in which she was enroute to Phoenix from Yuma yesterday in the National Air Derby was crumpled from hitting a bank.

A parachute which she carried was unopened. Apparently the girl had no time to open it.

Miss Crosson was the first to meet with disaster in the derby, although three other aviatrices had made forced landings yesterday but escaped injury.

Phoenix, Ariz., Aug. 20.—Half a dozen mishaps that left one of their number missing in the desert and disabled the planes of two others marked the San Bernardino-Phoenix leg of the air derby for women.

Those still in the race will hop today to Lordsburg, N. M., and El Paso, Tex.

Mrs. Claire Fahy probably will not be able to rejoin the race. Her landing gear was shattered when she descended at Calexico. A forced landing jolted the plane of Thea Rasche, famous German aviatrice, out of commission at Holtville, Cal. Mechanics were striving to repair the ship so she might continue in the contest.

Bobbie Trout's plane was damaged when a balky motor forced it down near Algodones after she had passed Calexico.

The plane of Amelia Earhart, first woman Atlantic flyer rose on a cogitive nose in landing at Yuma, Ariz. A new propeller was hurriedly attached.

Louise Thaden of Pittsburgh was the first to complete the second lap. Other arrivals here in their order were Florence Barnes of California, Gladys O'Donnell, Cleveland, Ruth Fate appears to be against Mrs. Letha Jones of East Palestine, one of the injured when an automobile, which was a passenger was wrecked at a crossing on the Salem-Benton rd. early Monday morning, and who is now a patient in the Salem City hospital.

Judgment was entered against Mrs. Jones in common pleas court Monday on a cognitive note for $500, in favor of M. W. Beyer. At the time the judgment was taken, counsel was not aware that the defendant had been injured in a wreck. Mrs. Jones recently filed a petition for divorce in common pleas against her husband. This case has not come up for final hearing.

Many Go To Polls In Cleveland Today

Cleveland, Aug. 20.—On the basis of exceptionally heavy morning balloting in the special election on Cleveland's charter amendment, political observers raised their original forecast that afternoon and predicted that more than 100,000 voters will be cast during the day.

This was 20,000 more than had been expected on the amendment, which, if successful, will displace the city manager system of municipal government in Cleveland with the old mayor-ward-council plan.

Unusually heavy balloting was reported in wards where voters are known to be sympathetic with the city manager plan, according to progressive government committee headquarters.

PLANE CIRCLES ABOVE AZORES, WEATHER GOOD

Youngest Aviators Seem To Have Good Chance Of Arrival

EUROPE WATCHING FLIGHT ANXIOUSLY

Monoplane Swoops Over Village Then Speeds On Way

Horta, Azores, Aug. 20.—In the absence of any reports to the contrary, Oscar Kaeser and Kurt Luescher, young Swiss fliers hardly out of their teens, were believed to be speeding today across the Atlantic toward New York in their Farman monoplane "Young Switzerland."

Nothing more has been heard of the aviators since they circled over the village of Praia Victoria, on the island of Terceira at 6 p. m. yesterday (4:30 p. m. Salem time).

No indication was given that the fliers were experiencing any difficulty, and after swooping low over the village their plane struck out on a straight westerly line over the ocean.

Weather conditions in the vicinity of the Azores were excellent, and there were no reports of heavy storms between here and the coast of America.

Kaeser and Luescher hopped off at Lisbon, Portugal, in the plane Young Switzerland at 7:30 a. m. yesterday Portuguese time, or 2:30 a. m. New York daylight saving time. Lisbon is 2,150 miles from St. Johns and 2,600 miles from this city.

Home To Land Tonight

The Young Swiss said they hoped to reach Roosevelt field, Long Island, just outside of New York City some time Tuesday night.

Owing to the quiet manner in which the aviators prepared for their flight and in which they hoped off at Lisbon and the further fact that the enterprise was overshadowed by world interest in the globe-circling voyage of the Graf Zeppelin, the two Swiss fliers received scant attention in the press.

Kaeser, who is well known in French aviation circles, because of his flight from Switzerland to Indochina and return, said that he and his companion would travel by way of Halifax. This news aroused considerable interest in the flight here and from down a watch was kept for the plane.

The aviators are using a Farman monoplane with a 230-horsepower Gnome Le Rhone Titan motor, capable of a speed of 105 miles an hour under satisfactory weather conditions.

THE HOME KITCHEN

—By Jeannette Young Norton

"Bring me a tomato salad with a mayonnaise dressing, but none of the oily stuff. I can't bear oil." I overheard a man order at luncheon. That's like ordering an ice cream soda without ice cream.

Mayonnaise means a dressing with oil; in fact, it's mostly oil. A standard recipe for a good mayonnaise is one cup of olive oil, only two tablespoons of vinegar or lemon juice, the yolk of an egg and seasoning.

Mayonnaise is a delightful way of eating wholesome oils, and a spoonful on a salad makes it tasty and increases its nutritive value. Olive oil is preferred for flavor by many who have become accustomed to it. However, it is a somewhat cultivated taste in this country, and many people never like it, even though they know it is more expensive than other vegetable oils.

Here are a few recipes for dressings without oil, which have a texture quite like mayonnaise but not the oily flavor.

Cream Cooked Dressing

The following will make about one pint, and if kept in the refrigerator will be just as good after a few weeks as when freshly made. It is at any time it seems too thick.

Then just before serving dilute either with a little cream or some lemon juice.

1/2 cup cream.

1/4 cup vinegar.

1/4 cup lemon juice.

6 eggs, well beaten.

3 tablespoons sugar.

1 teaspoon salt.

1/2 teaspoon pepper.

Dash of cayenne.

1 teaspoon dry mustard.

Mix together all the ingredients except the cream and salt. Cook in a double boiler for 10 minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from fire, set aside to cool. When cold add the cream and the salt and put in a jar on ice.

This recipe uses cream and no butter. Here is another which includes milk instead of cream, including butter.

Plain-Cooked Dressing

1 cup milk.

2 tablespoons lemon juice.

2 eggs.

1 tablespoon butter.

1/2 teaspoon salt.

1/2 teaspoon pepper.

1/2 teaspoon dry mustard.

Put in the beaten eggs and dry seasonings in a double boiler and stir while it cooks. Add the lemon juice very gradually—only a few drops at a time. Then add the milk while stirring and cook for ten minutes after it thickens. Remove from fire and beat in the butter.

MOTHERS now learn value of MAGNESIA

Because it is so helpful in keeping babies and children healthy and happy, every mother should know about Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

Famous Inventor Sends "73" To Telegraphers In Convention

Cleveland, Aug. 20.—Excusing himself because of an "aching stomach" which restricts his coming and going, Thomas A. Edison, member of the Old Time Telegraphers and Historical Association, notified W. L. Ross, president of the association, that he will not be present today when the organization opens a three-day reunion here.

"Please present to the gathering," Edison wrote, "The fact that I am unable to attend."

More than 300 old time telegraphers, many of whom have risen to prominence in the business and industrial world, were lured here by the call of the dots and dashes to reminisce over the old days when the news and doings of the world filtered through their finger tips via the telegraph key.

John L. Loran, 80, Civil war telegrapher and one of the few surviving members of the United States Military Telegraph Corps, was believed to be the oldest delegate at the convention.

which is carried below the waist, line in a circular yoke effect. A pink satin princess gown, underlining the higher waistline, has three tiered edged with pink net has flat hip-line and two-tiered skirt with large butterfly point at the back.

Red georgette, princess in line, comes for afternoon trimmed with fine net tucking to make the slender silhouette and flaring gracefully about the bottom. Another is of black satin with jabot of champagne georgette.

One dressmaker is making it in beige satin, really a stream-line princess cut, meaning that it is gently moulded to the figure from shoulders to hips, and quite recently flared in a circular movement from hips to hemline. It makes a charming street frock with boyish collar of soft material and bow tie and belt of dark blue satin.

The normal position of the waistline is a strong feature of all the princess frocks, with a narrow belt used by many of the designers around the waists of even the more elaborate afternoon and evening frocks.

Man Leans to Death from Hotel Window

It was believed that this to be a fictitious name. A few minutes after the man had been assigned to a room, his body was found in the street below. Persons on their way to work saw the body hurtling through space. Prongs projecting from the rim of a new cake pan held the plate upon which the cake is placed without it being seen. Police said they handled the pan.

Baseball More Attractive To Cub's Than Bridge Tables

BY HENRY McLEMORE
New York, N. Y., Aug. 19.—Chicago's Cubs had much rather play baseball than discuss it.

Not that the McCarthy outfit is above health post-mortems of each play while lingering under the showers but given their choice between a day of bridge in their hotel and a game of ball they would undoubtedly choose the latter.

Reports have it that the boys all but playfully smashed the furniture in their hotel yesterday as rain kept them from taking a few cheers at the Giants. The same reports have the Giants' Rogers and Cards immensely pleased with the rainy day that gave them an opportunity to try for a few grand slams.

Incidentally, the Cubs are leading the National League race by some seven games.

Yesterday's National proceedings were enlivened by the Phillies' climb

Parliament to Act On Cabinet "Raise"

London, Aug. 20.—A definite move to increase Ministerial salaries in Britain is being made at last, with the approval of the parties.

The reason is that, on their official salaries of $25,000, the chief ministers are heavily out of pocket at the end of their term. At the expiration of Ramsey MacDonald's spell of eight months of office in 1924 he had exhausted practically the savings of a lifetime.

The salary of the prime minister, after income tax has been deducted at the source, is $17,500. Out of this he has to entertain incessantly and expected to contribute extensively to various funds and charities.

A parliamentary committee which investigated the matter in 1921 recommended that the minimum salary of the Premier would be $40,000. Giving evidence before this committee the late Lord Oxford and Asquith said "I confess I think the prime minister is underpaid. After 11 continuous years in office I was a much poorer man than when I entered."

The office of prime minister, unless a man has private means, cannot be properly discharged on $25,000. He has a number of duties, if he is to perform his office properly, of entertaining and offering hospitality to all sorts and conditions of people both at home and abroad, which under present arrangements, he has to defray entirely at his own expense.

Premier Baldwin also stated that during his term he lived on his capital.

A house of commons committee is expected to take the matter in hand and recommend that the increases be voted.

African Hunters Poor Sportsmen

New York, Aug. 20.—Big game hunters in Africa employ unsportsmanlike methods, according to Mrs. Delia Akley, explorer, in address at the Summer session of Columbia University.

Mrs. Akley, who will soon lead a new expedition into the heart of the Congo for the American Museum of Natural History.

She has crossed the upper Congo without white escort and with only cartridges in her belt. With her husband, the late Carl Akley, she spent two years in Juba and British East Africa, hunting down the group of elephants now belonging to the Museum. In 1924 and 1925 she penetrated alone into the Buri forests, living several months among the natives.

In commenting on the unsportsmanlike manner in which big game hunting is conducted during the present day, Mrs. Akley stated that the hunters now drive in an automobile to the spot where the game is located and shoot defenceless animals down at the moment of surprise—without giving them any fighting chance for their lives.

"The killing of big prey is being stripped of its dangers in many parts of Africa," Mrs. Akley asserts. "The Samal tribes of the desert are still wild, but elsewhere the influx of settlers is making East Africa a place of modern comfort and luxury. The up-to-date hunter in this region will find everything at his elbow and will be able to call home a set of prize elephant tusks without separating himself too long from the necessities of life or encountering any great dangers from animals or natives."

CITY GARAGE ON SITE OF OLDEST CHICAGO HOUSE

History of Valuable Land Traced Through Sale Effected Recently

Chicago, Aug. 19.—An open air garage, commonly known as a parking place, is to occupy the site of Chicago's most historical spot, the place where Jean Baptiste Pointe du Saible, colored man from Santo Domingo, erected Chicago's first house.

Cars of patrons who park there will be covering land which is worth, at a conservative estimate, some $10,000 apiece, for the land is located on the bank of the Chicago river in the midst of the city's great skyscraper district.

The old James S. Kirk Soap company stands on the spot at present, but this structure is to be demolished and the land turned into an open air parking station.

First Cabin
De Saible erected his crude log cabin on the river bank in 1779, three years after the Declaration of Independence was signed.

De Saible lived there until 1796 when he sold the place to Le Mai, the French fur trader who had followed the footsteps of the intrepid La Saile, Tonty, Marquette, Joliet and others, and had come down the Great Lakes in his search for furs that were to go back to the factors in Quebec and thence to the courts of Europe.

Le Mai kept it until 1804 when John Kinzie, Chicago's first white settler, bought it. He enlarged the cabin to accommodate his family and lived there until that fateful August 15, 1812, when the troops from across the river evacuated the place and started south, only to be massacred by Indian hordes before they had gone five miles.

Was Soap Factory
After the Indian uprising had subsided Kinzie returned to the cabin and lived there until his death in 1828.

"The soap factory long since moved away from the building," officials of the company handling the property said in explaining the decision. "The building is full of tanks and so cannot be remodeled for an office building and cannot be used for any other purpose. Taxes, of course, on an unoccupied building are heavy, so there is nothing to do but tear it down. Until it is leased or sold, it will be an open air parking station which will produce some income, but of course will not pay the taxes even on the unoccupied property."

Japan May Change Its Criminal Code
Tokyo, Aug. 20.—A decision to recommend alterations of the criminal code which throw the legal advantage to the citizen in cases of self-defense is reported in the vernacular press to have been reached by officials of the Ministry of Justice who have been carrying on an investigation. It is probable also that they will recommend extension of provisions of leniency in passing sentence, which now apply only to juvenile criminal cases, to those involving adults.

Heretofore the application of the law in cases of self-defense has worked somewhat to the advantage of the assailant. The present interpretation provides that non-liability based on self-defense shall be recognized only in such cases where the attacked person wounds his assailant when the assailant is facing him. Should the assailant suddenly dodge or turn, and receive a knife wound in the back or side at the hands of his intended victim, the law technically would hold the intended victim responsible and place him on trial for an attempt to kill or for homicide, as the case might be.

"Lifer" Sees World for First Time in 53 Years

Solitary Confinement Is Temporarily Broken By Transfer

JESSE H. POMEROY

FIFTY-THREE years ago, a boy of seventeen, who had murdered children even younger than himself, entered the Charleston State Prison to expiate his crimes by a life of solitary confinement.

Today, Jesse H. Pomeroy, now a grizzled man of seventy-one, was taken from behind the grim walls that had been his home to the State farm at Bridgewater, Mass.

Pomeroy arrived in an automobile, the first ride he had ever taken in a motor vehicle. During the trip his eyes were held wide by wonder and his tongue was almost speechless as he realized at what speed a modern world, hidden from him by prison walls, had moved in fifty-three years.

Massachusetts' historic "lifer" was disappointed at the scarcity of horses on the highways. He saw but one from the time he left Boston until he arrived at the outskirts of Bridgewater. At the State Farm he faced one of his greatest surprises. There, tractors have all but displaced horses, and a lengthy explanation was necessary before he was able to understand the use of those machines.

Near Brockton the two automobiles bearing Pomeroy and five other long term prisoners paused long enough at an airport for Pomeroy to witness for the first time the take-off of an airplane. He was so amazed he was unable to question his guards.

Cleveland visitors on Wednesday, Mrs. Ed Herman and children and Mrs. Frank Spear and daughter, Helen, spent Thursday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Simpson at Salem.

Students of the Washingtonville high school met with Supt. Stonebraker at Washingtonville school on Tuesday morning and afternoon. This meeting was to acquaint the students with the courses offered in the Leetonia high school and to enroll students for the coming school year.

The Koller family held its 50th annual reunion at Liberty park on Thursday, with a large number present. The reunion will be held at the same place next year.

Miss Anna Ruth Vincent returned to her home in Salem on Friday evening after spending several days with her cousin Dorothy Ann Reese.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Reese of Salem, were callers Wednesday evening in the home of his brother, Morris Reese and family.

PYKE CHARGES ARE DISMISSED

"Not Good Ethics" Holds Clarence Brown In Ruling On Same

Columbus, Aug. 20.—Secretary of State Clarence J. Brown's dismissal of charges against Mrs. Bernice S. Pyke, Cleveland, as a member of the Cuyahoga county board of elections was announced today. Mrs. Pyke is Democratic national committee woman from Ohio. Seeking removal of Mrs. Pyke as a member of the board, Atty. Gen. S. Damasco, Cleveland, associated with former Gov. Harry L. Davis, in the campaign terminating in the charter amendment election being held today at Cleveland, filed charges with the secretary of state claiming that Mrs. Pyke improperly used her office as election board member to aid the opponents of the proposed charter amendment. After an investigation, Secretary Brown held that the evidence in support of the charges did not warrant the removal of Mrs. Pyke. Brown declared, however, that the action of Mrs. Pyke in issuing a letter urging all women serving as election officials to attend a meeting Aug. 8, arranged for by opponents of the charter amendment was not "good ethics."

Has New Idea

Boston, Aug. 20.—Separate vacations for husband and wife of at least two weeks every year, make for added happiness, according to Dr. M. Sayle Taylor, noted physiologist.

"As husband and wife live their lives together, they will get to a point where they will grate on each other with the result that petty quarrels ensue. When the husband returns from his vacation he will find new attractions in his wife, and the same is equally true of the wife upon her return," Dr. Taylor said.

"SINGING FOOL!"
Depths of tragedy are sounded by Al Jolson in "The Singing Fool," the special production in which he is presented by Warner Bros. at the Royal theater.

In it he is revealed as one of the most powerful emotional actors on the screen. His creation is in decided contrast to his work as a comedian, though his former work has partially demonstrated the power of which he is capable.

In "The Singing Fool" he is first seen as a carefree, wise-cracking entertainer—a singing waiter in a New York cabaret—but eventually there comes to him a weight of sorrow and mental stress that entirely changes the course of his life. Everything which he has attained through years of striving is suddenly stripped from him, and the way he meets and copes with his misfortunes makes a story of absorbing heart interest.

Married to a revue star who falls in love with another man, the singing waiter suffers torments, which include the death of the child to whom he is passionately devoted. "The Singing Fool" runs the whole scale of human emotions.

Jolson's amazing gift for recognizing those who have, like himself, the ability to transmit their feelings to others, was demonstrated in his choice of adorable three-year-old Davey Lee to play the part of Sonny Boy in "The Singing Fool." The child was chosen from among nearly 200 applicants.

Betty Bronson and Josephine Dunn are seen in the principal roles, and other well-known players in the cast are Reed Howe, Arthur Housman, David Lee, Robert Emmett O'Connor, and Edward Martindel. C. Graham Baker made the adaptation from a Leslie S. Burrows story. The production was directed by Lloyd Bacon.

"WHEEL OF LIFE"

Richard Dix, idol of thousands of movie fans, moved up a notch on the scale of success yesterday when he appeared in the leading role as Captain Veullat, brave, romantic soldier of the British army in India in the Paramount feature picture, "The Wheel of Life" at the State theater.

"The Wheel of Life" is great material for Mr. Dix because it brings him forward in a role of the type in which he seems to be most at home. He is the he-man without losing the poise of the gentleman. He is bold and fearless without losing the restraint of the chivalrous lover.

He meets a girl (Esther Ralston) in London while on furlough and falls in love with her without discovering who she is. Later at the military post in India he meets her again—only to learn that she is the unhappy wife of O. P. Heggie, his commanding officer. Rather than prosecute his love and thus bring scandal to his regiment, Dix decides to get a transfer. He is stationed at a lonely outpost in the Tibetan wilderness when he receives an order to rescue a group of British travelers who are besieged in a Buddhist monastery in the mountains. He goes to the rescue and finds that one of the travelers is Esther. They pledge their love again as the guns of the native besiegers are barking death around them. Reinforcements arrive just in time, with Heggie leading them. This situation seemingly means the end of romance for Dix when the most amazing climax of many a long day brings the lovers together for the finale.

Excellent support is provided by Miss Ralston and O. P. Heggie. It is Miss Ralston's first appearance in the "talkies." Nigel de Bruin, famous actor of "holy men" parts, also makes his audible debut in this picture. He plays the role of a lama or high priest of the Buddhist religion and has an important part in the monastery sequences of the picture.

It is vivid, absorbing and action-packed romance-drama and you should not miss it.
